

GLIOMATCH Patient Survey

Understanding Patients' Views on New Treatments for Brain Cancer

What is the GLIOMATCH Project?

GLIOMATCH is a European research effort working to find better and more personalised treatments for people with advanced brain cancers, especially:

- Paediatric glioma: a rare type of brain cancer that affects children.
- Adult glioblastoma: an aggressive brain tumour that is difficult to treat.

Goal: To develop more effective, personalised therapies that match each patient's unique condition.

Why Your Voice Matters

To make sure this research reflects what really matters to patients and families.

We want to understand:

- How you feel about new treatment approaches.
- What you hope for in future therapies.
- What improvements you'd like to see in care and research.

By sharing your experience, you will help researchers and doctors focus on what is most important to people living with brain cancer.

Who can take part?

Brain cancer patients, their families, and carers.

Is it confidential?

No personal information is required.
